Pastor Corner Goes Color!

This month I have strayed a little from my usual topics, but I had to mention a "colorful" development with the church's monthly newsletter. Since we have changed to a color multi-functional machine from Savin, we can now print colorful newsletters, bulletins, booklets and much more, at an affordable price, and the finance committee doesn't have to worry about the budget.

Color Cleans Up!

Church staff has noticed that the clean up time after church services has decreased significantly. "We see most of our congregation taking their bulletins home with them after the service" said Charles Growing. "I have even noticed that parents will no longer give the bulletins to their children which has cut down on the paper airplane construction. Our incorporating color has really paid off!"

Youth Fund Raiser A Colorful Success

Youth leader James Jones reported a 50% rise in profits from their annual Tulip sale this year. He credits the increase to using the church's new color copier to create the advertising for the sale.
